Insider's Guide (A perspective from the Owner):

I've absolutely loved living in this flat and will be sad to leave it, but I've now outgrown the space as I'm looking to start a family outside of London. One of the things I've enjoyed most is the abundance of natural light from the large windows, which makes the flat feel bright, airy, and even more spacious. The transport links have been outstanding, with a choice of underground and overground lines, bus and cycle routes, making it incredibly easy to get around, whether commuting, meeting friends or going to the airport. Everything I need is right on the doorstep, yet the flat is tucked away on a safe, quiet residential street. Having two double bedrooms has been fantastic. It's given me the flexibility to work from home comfortably while still having plenty of space for friends and family to stay over. My partner also has a car, and getting a local zone parking permit was very straightforward. Parking spaces have always been available directly outside or close to the flat for my partner and visitors.
